Illegal Aliens: The Problem

It is but a small indication of how and why crime proliferates as a result of illegal aliens, but multiply it hundreds of times and the picture gets into better focus.

We choose this one because part of it happened locally.

It started on Wednesday night which Chula Vista police officers picked up 3 aliens who had entered the country illegally. The 3 were photographed, fingerprinted, made a matter of illegal-entry records and taken back to Tijuana where, by agreement with the Mexican government, such aliens are transported well into Baja California where they are told to "beat it."

They did! Right back into the United States.

On Thursday night units of the San Diego Police Department answered a prowling call in Lomita Village, just few feet from the Lemon Grove city limit.

SDPD called on the sheriff's helicopter unit, ASTREA, which lit up the area under investigation. 3 illegal aliens were caught burglarizing a Lomita Village home. The same 3 who were carried back to their homeland the night before.

This time the cops gave them juvenile treatment—which means they'll be held by juvie authorities for 30 days and then taken back home.

As one cop put it, "We'll have to catch 'em again in 31 days."

This is an oversimplification of the machinery of an illegal alien crime, but it did happen and it happened near enough that any of us could have been the victim.

The problem is more severe than the various levels of government are inclined to admit.

Yet, there are signs that the first stirrings of correction are being made.

This week, in San Diego, governors of 4 southwest states, inaugurated a new Southwest Border Regional Commission. The governors: Jerry Brown of California; Raul Castro of Arizona; Jerry Apodaca of New Mexico, and Dolph Briscoe of Texas.

It is an economic development organization, designed to provide opportunities in Mexico that would reduce the determination of so many Mexicans to come into the U.S. illegally.

President Carter had earlier formed the commission and named Cristobal Aldrete as Federal co-chairman.

Even so, Legislature, up to now, is determined to go to Washington to ask Congress and the President to take specific steps to bring California's illegal alien problem under control. The vote on this matter is August 16 in the Senate Rules Committee.

According to Assemblyman Bill Craven, there are nearly 6 million illegal aliens in the U.S. More than half are from Mexico. In California there are 2 million seeking the better way of life the state offers.

Arrests along the S. California border have risen to 1,000 each night. The Border Patrol says at least 2,000 each get in and avoid capture.

Presently, each of the 750 agents cover some 210 square miles and try to apprehend some 2,250 illegal aliens.

Beyond border enforcement and apprehension, California itself bears high costs for services used by the illegal aliens. Local government throughout the state is putting out huge sums for medical, social, educational and criminal justice. Moreover, the job loss to U.S. citizens is great despite outcries that the illegal aliens gladly perform the hard agricultural jobs most Californians are unwilling to take.

But illegal aliens have also taken many jobs in light manufacturing, hotel and restaurant services. A large number work for less than minimum wage, have few (if any) benefits and can't complain for fear of being turned in. Several unscrupulous employers exploit the illegals and support a network of professional smugglers who charge the illegal alien up to $500 for "connections" to a paying job.

Assemblyman Dixon Arnett of Redwood City, has called this traffic "the last vestige of a slave trade in the United States." Yet, successful legislation he authored in 1971 to bar employers from knowingly employing illegal aliens where such a practice would have "an adverse effect on lawful resident workers" remains unenforced today because of court squabbling between Governor Brown, the Attorney General, California Legal Assistance and the United Farm Workers labor union of Cesar Chavez.

Any attempt by the President to remedy the problem must also gain approval of the Congress. That may turn out to be a long bale. The objections of a vocal minority who would open our borders to all comers despite the unfairness to both our taxpaying legal citizenry and the exploited illegal alien must be overcome.

That's why California's State Senate must make the right decision and bring the weight of California's Legislature and therefore its 22 million people to bear on the Congress for prompt action.

Restore the Death Penalty

The death penalty must be restored as soon as possible. The Assembly can do this by overriding the Governor's veto of the law which restores the death penalty.

The overwhelming majority of Californians believe that the death penalty protects them. Their belief is reinforced by evidence which shows that the death penalty deters murder.

For example, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger points out that from 1954 to 1963 when the death penalty was consistently imposed in California the murder rate remained between 3 and 4 murders for each 100,000 population.

Since 1964 the death penalty has been imposed only once (in 1967) and the murder rate has skyrocketed to 10.4 murders for each 100,000 population. The sharp climb in California's murder rate, which commenced when executions stopped, is no coincidence. It is convincing evidence that the death penalty does deter many murders.

If the Governor's veto is upheld, an initiative will surely follow. However, an initiative cannot restore the death penalty until November of 1978. In the interim, innocent people will be murdered—some whose lives may have been saved if the death penalty was in effect.

This is literally a life or death matter. The lives of hundreds of innocent people must be protected. The Governor's veto must be overridden.

That test comes today in the assembly.

At Special Council Meeting

Special Use Permit Renewed For Cresta Loma Facility

The Lemon Grove City Council called a special board meeting Monday at 4:30 p.m. to approve a special use permit that had been revoked the week before in an ordinance by which all special use permits issued by the county and not yet activated were deemed null and void.

Caught up in the "urgency" ordinance was the $2.25 million Lemon Grove convalescent care complex planned by O. Phillip Jordan at 7922 Palm st.

The council, with Mayor Jim Dorman and councilman Jack Doherty absent, voted to reinstate the Jordan permit.

Jordan owns the Cresta Loma Convalescent and Guest Home at the site of the proposed new development.

The adoption of the urgency resolution was to give the City of Lemon Grove the option of ensuring that construction began after that date would fit into the Community Plan.

The Jordan case was the only request made for permit reinstatement so far and Dr. Robert Burns, as Mayor pro tem, noted that a special meeting was called only because of the urgency of the Jordan request. Jordan faced and August 22 deadline for complying with HUD requirements for a loan. Burns said that other requests, if any, would be put on the agenda for a regular meeting. Councilmen Dell Lake and Dale Bailey concurred.

Jordan, in making application for the use permit renewal, said that a temporary lack of a permit might cause the loan to be lost. He had said at an earlier council meeting at which at set-back was an issue, that there were so many agencies that have to be satisfied that it had taken him 4 years and many thousands of dollars just getting the paperwork ready for the start. Part of the effort was for government loans.

A county staff representative made a brief review Monday of Jordan's actions since 1973 when his permit was first approved by County. It was extended in 1974, 1975 and 1976. The final extension ended in January, 1977 at which time County Planning granted another extension.

The next regular meeting of the council will be Monday at 7:30 p.m. The council meets at the Lemon Grove Education Center.

In the previous regular council meeting a proposal by Councilman Jack Doherty that a city manager screening committee be formed of 2 members of the council, 2 non-candidate city managers from San Diego cities, and Tom Parks, the County-City liaison officer.

Councilman Bailey asked that the proposal be amended to comprise the committee of three people of qualified background to serve by appointment. The amended motion passed 3-2 with Doherty and Lake voting no.

Lt. William McCracken Transferred to Jail

By Max Goodwin

He is no Kojak nor a Baretta.

Otherwise, he is a mild-appearing sheriff's lieutenant whose knowledge and ability have earned him the respect and obedience of the 47 deputies and 5 sergeants under the command.

He is Lt. William "Bill" McCracken, a 20-year veteran of the sheriff's department who Detective Sgt. Roger Jacobs and his staff of 13 detectives.

A check of Lt. McCracken's job list shows that he co-ordinated all patrol functions by directing the operations of his 52 men; prepared administrative stats for budget and planning; assisted the captain and was station commander during the captain's absence, compiled criminals data to detect crime trends.

He had a good, strong shoulder for the patrol deputies who felt rejected during the marathon salary negotiations with the County Board of Supervisors. He didn't condone a show of dissatisfaction. He encouraged patience. Truly a father-figure for some of the young deputies who had become dispirited.

It was a surprise to no one — except Bill McCracken — when he went to lunch with a retired deputy and he was soon surrounded by more than 25 Lemon Grove fellow employees who were indeed sorry to lose his steady influence.

The group gave him a desk set and a cigarette lighter. The latter because he was an inveterate match borrower. The lighter, at the luncheon, wouldn't light. We suggest the malfunctioning lighter might have been symbolic of the thinking of the sheriff's brass who dreamed up the McCracken transfer. Whether that is so or not, the people in the county served by the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office have lost a fine, capable police officer.

Trailer Burglarized

A damaged, covered trailer parked on the premises of the Moving Center, 1805 Massachusetts ave., Lemon Grove, was broken into while the Center was closed for the week-end.

Missing from the U-Haul rental was an indefinite number of Mexican artifacts, it was reported to the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office.

Grove School Budget Final Figure Released: $5,690,389

Trustees of the Lemon Grove School District, meeting Thursday night in one of the shortest meetings of the year, finalized the school district budget at $5,690,389, an increase of $3,880 over last year's budget.

Of the funds allocated by the trustees, $408,303 of the finalized figure will be deposited into the contingency fund account.

This contingency fund is particularly of interest to Lemon Grove's teachers currently deadlocked with the School Board on a salary increase.

Should the teachers receive any increase in pay, the money would come from the contingency account.

District Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton told the board the $3,880 increase in this year's budget was earmarked for a new carpet in the Monterey Heights School.

In other business conducted by the district trustees:

—The board authorized Assistant Jim Justeson to revise and add several new job descriptions, all for certified personnel.

Formerly the position was one for a half-time psychologist. Now, that position has been listed as Administrative Assistant for Special Education.

Other new positions created were for the Aphasic Class Teacher, a mandated state remedial reading and language program instructor; school psychologist; reading specialist and/or reading resource teacher; and coordinator of Pupil Personnel Services.

—The Trustees also approved the deposits of small cash payments for classes or services by the staff of the district.

Formerly, these small amounts of cash and small checks had to be sent to the Education Department through the mail. The bank account will allow the transfer of funds through current banking mechanisms.

—The Board also authorized Dr. Sutton to sign a document from the County which allows the Lemon Grove district to receive transportation reimbursements for the six local Trainable Mentally Retarded taken to other schools for training.

—The board also granted management personnel compensatory time on a straight time basis for any hours worked over the 40 hour maximum.

—And, the Board also accepted a letter from a developer building an 81-unit apartment complex on Broadway that sufficient room in the local schools was available for any new students.

Assistant Superintendent of Business, Paul Reynolds echoed standing statistics which show about one-half a child enters the local schools for every unit built.

Reynolds estimated there would be about 40 students maximum could come from the new development.

District Superintendent Sutton said in most cases, new developments do not allow children in the first five years.

Owner Spots Thief; Recovers Batteries

William Kobusch, owner of the Sentinel Battery Shop at 3615 Costa Bella ave., Lemon Grove, watched a short time while a thief carried batteries from his fenced-in premises on July 29.

He called the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office.

A deputy responded almost immediately. He felt the hood of a car parked at the premises and found it warm to the touch. He removed the keys from the car and waited.

Soon an 18-year old youth approached the deputy and asked, "Will you let me go if I give them back?"

He was booked in county jail but not until after he identified an 18-year old cohort who was picked up at the L.G. Jack-in-the-Box. The batteries being hauled away were recovered as well as 6 from a similar burglary 2 weeks before and 2 from an earlier theft.

Plan Assn. Meets Tonight

The Lemon Grove Planning Association meets tonight in the L.G. Community Center on School lane at 7 p.m.

Bob Holaday will preside.

A speaker from the County Department of Transportation will discuss transportation benches and shelters.

What is a City?

TAXPAYER SUITS. If at any time any taxpayer feels that the city council or any board or commission thereof is improperly expending public funds or violating any law, he may seek an injunction to stop the proposed action, or compel the individual city council members to reimburse the treasury the amount of the inappropriate expenditure.

A public officer owes an undivided duty to the public whom he serves, and is not permitted to place himself in a position which will subject him to conflicting duties or expose him to the temptation of acting in any manner other than in the best interest of the public. I is in consonance with this principle that city officers may not, under any circumstances, use their official position for their own benefit, or for the benefit of anyone except the city itself, and they may not represent the city in any transaction in which they are personally interested in obtaining an advantage. It makes no difference that the principal was not in fact injured, that the agent intended no wrong, that the other party acted in good faith, or that the agent acted fairly and honorably toward both.

The new Political Reform Act precludes a public official from participating in or attempting to influence those governmental decisions or actions in which he has "financial interest" which could be materially affected by the decision. The Act defines the kinds of interests (which includes interests owned by spouses, dependent children and agents, and certain businesses and trusts) which might cause a conflict and require a public official to disqualify himself from decisions which could affect those interests. Thus, city officials should be generally familiar with the Act's provisions so that they can recognize potential conflicts. Preexisting statutory provisions prohibiting a financial interest in any contractual matter involving the city and any council member were not repealed by the Political Reform Act, and such contracts are void.

In addition, members of the council must file disclosure statements once a year indicating potential conflicting interests. The types of financial interests required to be disclosed generally include investments in business entities, interest in real property, sources income, loans or gifts and positions of employment. Since the law permits the Fair Political Practices Commission to impose a penalty for failure to disclose, elected officials should be certain the statements are complete. Thus, council members should consult their city attorney to be certain they understand the law whenever a question in this area arises.

There's An Answer

by Mr. and Mrs.
Norman Vincent Peale

Trouble

Q. Why is it that so much trouble seemed to be heaped on particular people?

My mother had a hard life and is now dying of cancer. My own life has been filled with nothing but trouble.

I and members of my family have had several major and minor surgeries. I had a cerebral hemorrhage at 41 and eventually made a full recovery.

Our younger son is a mild schizophrenic and unable to hold a job for long and lives with us part of the time.

Now I have to watch my mother dying of cancer. I've always been a strong person, but I can't take much more.

I am drinking more and more and think I may be becoming an alcoholic. Even a strong person can be crushed by life eventually.

It certainly doesn't seem fair. Can you give me an answer?

A. A psychiatrist once said: "The chief duty of a human being is to endure life." Which of course is pretty bleak.

But the Bible says: "This is the victory that overcomes the world, even our faith," which is pretty inspiring.

You have had plenty of trouble, but it is interesting how some people rise above trouble and live victoriously. Other constantly think trouble. And to a certain extent they create trouble. At least they live in a trouble climate.

One thing you can do is to work on developing a positive, hopeful attitude. To the extent that you do this, trouble will tend to diminish.

We have a booklet, YOU CAN OVERCOME ANY PROBLEM, which has helped others with questions such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Any reader may also have a free copy by writing us at Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Is it devil music?

Q. Could you please tell me if dancing is wrong in God's sight? I'm puzzled concerning this matter.

I like to go dancing every so often. It's the only way I feel relaxed.

In fact, it's the only way I receive exercise. My husband and I like to go dancing sometimes, but people say this is devil music. (Rhythm, blues and rock). Is it?

A. Dancing as such is not, in our opinion, wrong in the sight of God. It is only as a person has wrong thoughts about it that it can be wrong.

As a means of normal relaxation, exercise and a social good time, dancing can be a source of wholesome pleasure. Do not afflict your mind with unhealthy thoughts about it.

Church Slander

Q. My husband and I went out of a church that slandered our daughter's reputation after she was a victim of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to rape.

That is how the state charged her attacker. He pled guilty on lesser charges of assault with a gun and is on five years probation.

We must be stupid as we feel no shame or humiliation.

We think God, who protected her from harm, and her eyewitness, who got her help through the sheriff's department.

It has hurt us deeply. Surely this is not a church's role in the community! What is your answer?

A. Of course it is wrong for a church to slander anybody's reputation. But one wonders just how a church could do that. Or was it, rather, a few people in a church who talked slanderously?

Is it quite fair to blame a church for what one or two or even several members might do?

We suggest that you talk this matter over with the pastor, who certainly would not want anyone in his church to be hurt.

Unity Walk Planned By Christian Church

A district rally for the "Seventh Annual Unity Walk" organized by and for the benefit of local Christian Churches will be held August 28 at University Christian Church, 3900 Cleveland Ave.

KANSAS CITY CONCERT — This group of singers, all members of Skyline Wesleyan Church Choral, are scheduled to make an appearance at a convention of religious music publishers, directors, and musicians. Many of the members of the group hail from the Lemon Grove area.

Local Group Premieres Nationally

Skyline Chorale to Sing Original Musical

The 60 voice Skyline Chorale of Skyline Wesleyan Church in Lemon Grove will premiere an original musical score written to commemorate the church's 20th anniversary at a national convention of religious music directors, writers and publishers.

The convention, to be held in Kansas City, is the annual gathering instigated by the Lillenas Publishing Company, a top publisher of religious music.

According to Skyline Wesleyan's Minister of Music, Harlin Moore, the convention is held each year to acquaint music directors with current trends in religious music.

"The yearly meeting is a chance for music directors, writers and publishers to hear the latest stuff," said Moore.

The Skyline Chorale, made up of adults from the local congregation, will perform the musical "Church Alive" written jointly by the Chorale's current director Otis Skillings and former Skyline Minister of Music Deric Johnson. Johnson, who now resides in Montgomery, Alabama, currently is the director of the religious singing group "Regeneration."

The musical was written by the pair to commemorate the 20th anniversary of Skyline Wesleyan Church in 1974 and according to Music Minister Moore has now been published for a national audience, by the Lillenas Publishing Co. of Kansas City.

The Skyline Chorale is scheduled to leave Lemon

Grove August 19 bound for a concert in Albuquerque, New Mexico on August 21. That concert will also be televised on local New Mexican television.

Next stop for the tour will be a concert in Bartlesville, Okla., on August 22.

The Chorale will perform "Church Alive" at the Kansas City convention on August 23.

On August 24, the Chorale will perform another original production written by Director Skillings and an Atlanta, Georgia Southern Baptist, Ed Seabough titled "Jesus is Lord".

On the return trip to Lemon Grove, the Chorale will perform in Phoenix, Arizona on August 27.

The next day, August 28, the Chorale will be back at Skyline Wesleyan Church to present a local concert. The scheduled concert begins at 5:30 p.m.

Dear Editor:

It was with pleasure that I read your account of the evaluations of federally funded criminal justice programs in this week's Lemon Grove Review.

Your report was particularly interesting in light of other newspaper accounts regarding the same subject.

These reporters chose to exploit a particular finding of the evaluation, and in one case completely ignored other significant findings as well as the purpose of these evaluations.

The intent of the criminal justice evaluation unit is to provide policy makers and citizens with accurate and objective information from which future decisions can be made toward crime control efforts.

Responsible journalism can only enhance the utility of such evaluations by presenting the readers with all the facts. You are to be commended for your efforts in this direction.

Women to Contest Alleged Sex Bias

SACRAMENTO — The California Commission on the Status of Women have pressured the Federal Communications Commission to be more responsive to women in the television industry.

The Commission proposed the FCC require networks and stations to pay women equally, to depict more violence against women in teevee plots, to air this violence during prime time, and to place more women in top managerial positions.

The Commission on the Status of Women are trying to persuade the FCC to invoke the federal law which requires stations to broadcast in the public interest as a condition to their licenses to get their proposals adopted.

Status of Women Commission Chair Anita Miller cited several examples of bias against women displayed by television stations.

"Data presented by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and the Screen Actors Guild indicate men dominate policy and decision-making positions throughout the television industry," said Miller. "Men direct community advisory boards; they are the survey experts hired to ascertain community needs."

"They (the men)," Miller continued, "fill virtually all responsible positions such as producer, director, assignment editor, show host, commentator and they dominate management positions."

The San Diego City College Theatre is located at 15th and C streets.

'Festivolkings' to Play At Genesis Theatre

The Genesis Theatre in La Mesa will open this weekend an original show titled "Festivolkings", culminating performances of the first annual Summer Children's Theatre Festival.

The show is scheduled for a 7 p.m. curtain time tomorrow night and curtain goes up at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Saturday.

The performance will continue every weekend until August 28.

Tickets are $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children under 12 years, and are available by calling the Genesis Theatre, 461-8255, between 9 and 5 p.m. daily.

The theatre is located at 4690 Palm ave. in La Mesa.

Festival Benefits Muscular Dystrophy

The First Annual Beach Festival and Wheelathon for Muscular Dystrophy will be held August 28 at Mission Beach, featuring Mr. Universe, mimes jugglers and musicians.

Registration for the Wheelathon in which bicycles, skateboards and other engineless vehicles will compete on a 4 km course will be at the northwest corner of Belmont Park. Prizes will be awarded for a variety of categories and sponsor sheets can be obtained at local 7-11 stores.

Pamphlet Offered on Beginning School

A new pamphlet from the Office of Child Development, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is offering parents advice about how to prepare their child for the first day of school.

The pamphlet, "When a Child Begins School", is available for the price of a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 635E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

31 FLAVORS — Owner Steve Aldrich gives Charlotte "Charlie" Gundersen, Miss Lemon Grove, a taste of Baskin and Robbins.

Aldrich opened the new ice cream shop on Broadway street July 26 and is planning a grand opening for his new store sometime in early September.

Rebeccas List August Events

Mesa Jewel Rebecca Lodge No. 409, Independent Order of Odd Fellows will hold its regular business meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

Mrs. Jean Danley, Noble Grand, will preside. Mrs. Joan Sibley, Vice Grand, will assist. Mrs. Lee Brothers is refreshment chairman.

An ice cream social is scheduled by the group on August 31. It will be at the VFW 5-7 p.m.

All members, Odd Fellows and their guests are invited. Proceeds will benefit the philanthropies of the Order of the Lodge.

Poison Info Center Offers Snakebite Care

Snake bites often followed by weakness, nausea, numbness or swelling can be treated temporarily when medical attention is not immediately available.

Bitten extremities are to be lowered to slow down the spread of the venom and cool packs — not ice — are to be placed on the wound. A snug constriction band over the bite also helps to prevent the spread, and poison can be partially removed by cutting through the fang marks and applying suction cups for an hour.

The Poison Information Center phone is 294-6000.

MV VFW Aux. Lists Dinners for August

Mrs. Wilda Arnold, president of Mission Valley VFW Auxiliary No. 3787, has scheduled the next meeting of the auxiliary for Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., at the Post Home, 4370 Twain ave., San Diego. Members are asked to be prompt in attendance.

Mrs. Bearice Soola, Ways and Means Chairman, has slated a number of events, proceeds to aid the many veterans in this area. Before and after each meeting of the Post and Auxiliary, a buffet dinner will be served. Meetings are held the second Thursday of each month with Post Commander Carl Arnold conducting.

Each Wednesday at 6 p.m. the Ways and Means chairman will prepare a steak dinner.

Friday, August 19 commencing at 6 p.m. a shrimp boil will be held at the Post Home. The menu includes corn on the cob, green salad, and a "beer bust." Cost to adults is $6.50.

LG Woman Named to Honor Sorority

LOS ANGELES — A Lemon Grove girl has been named to Pi Theta Mu service honor sorority at Mount St. Mary's College in Los Angeles.

Susan O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis O'Neill, 1735 Dayton dr., Lemon Grove, will have as her first official function in the group, an assignment ushering students at an all-college orientation September 7.

The sorority is identified by their look-a-like dresses, princess styled in autumn rust.

Two New Members For LG CoC Board

Emerson Morris was appointed to the board of directors of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce and was put in charge of soliciting members for the chamber.

Morris operates a building security firm. His wife operates the Valley Oasis Massage Parlor.

He replaces Marshall Woodend, a printer, who is moving to Chula Vista.

Dr. Bob Sanet was appointed to the board to replace Carl Lacki, BoA manager, who was transferred. Sanet is an optometrist.

The appointments were made by president Griff Clark at the chamber's regular meeting on July 28 at Skandia Smorgasbord.

His other business vice president Olin Thompson reported a plaza cleanup scheduled for early this week and the chamber told of a Lemon Grove City map to be distributed locally. Advertisers will be the production costs.

Brenda Cobberly asked for volunteers and ideas for next year's Old Time Days project. Lu Ann Holaday is OTD parade chairman. Either member may be reached through the Chamber of Commerce office.

Park Passports Ready For Senior Citizens

If you are planning to visit national parks, monuments, or recreation areas managed by the federal government this summer, you can save some money.

For $10 you can get a permit that is good for a calendar year admitting you and anyone in your car to any of these areas that charge an admittance fee.

And if you are over 62, you can get a free permit.

These permits are called Golden Eagle and Golden Age Passports.

The Department of Interior, which makes them available, has a free brochure telling how you go about getting these passes.

For your free copy of the brochure, Golden Eagle, Golden Age Passports, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 672E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Students Need Rooms

Local residents willing to rent small apartments or rooms to Southwestern College students are invited to contact the College Student Finance Office.

S.W. College maintains a housing file as a convenience for students and landlords; it also stresses the need for inexpensive rentals.

Festival of Arts

A Weekend Festival of the Performing Arts featuring performances by 15 cultural groups, will be August 27 and 28 at Sea World as part of the annual America's Finest City Week celebration.

Proceeds of the event which includes a ballet, folklore dances and songs and excerpts from popular musicals, will go to COMBO, the Combined Arts and Education Council of S.D. County.

Discount tickets are available at 7-11 stores, and various bank branches in the area.

Museum to Show Film

The San Diego Natural History Museum will feature Walt Disney's "Secrets of Life", a true-life adventure, on August 20 and 21.

The documentary deals with the world's smallest creatures and plants, is in color and is 70 minutes long.

The film will be shown at 1:30 and 3 p.m. in the Museum auditorium. Adult admission is $1 and children are admitted free.

The Museum is located in Balboa Park.

More Heart Classes

The next cardio pulmonary resuscitation classes sponsored by the L.G. Fire Department are August 18-19.

Limit is 50 person and applicants must attend both classes. L.G. firemen are instructors.

To take classes applicants must pre-register at the Lemon Grove Fire Station, 7853 Central ave. The phone is 469-4115.

S'western Women Meet

The Women's Center at Southwestern College will host two orientation meetings for prospective women students who are returning to college.

The meetings will be held Monday and Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the Women's Center at Southwestern College, 900 Otay Lakes rd., Chula Vista.

Deadline Nears For Senior Renters

Senator James R. Mills, D-San Diego, is reminding elderly renters that they have only until August 30 to file for state rent assistance under provisions of the Senior Citizens Rent Assistance law enacted in 1976.

To qualify a renter must be 62 years or older on January 1, 1977 and have total household income of $5,000 or less. Persons living in tax-exempt housing do not qualify.

The same August 31 deadline applies to senior citizens filing for property tax assistance. Forms have been sent to all older homeowners who qualified last year and to others who inquired about the program.

Fine Arts Gallery Show

The Fine Arts Gallery will play host to the San Diego Art Guild's 1977 All Media Membership Exhibition through September 4.

Displayed at the Gallery in Balboa Park are 25 of the best entries submitted by the members of the Guild. More than 200 entries were submitted.

The Fine Arts Gallery is open Tuesday through Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and is free.

Buffet Salad Vinaigrette

A tasty meat salad is the perfect solution to the double problem of what-to-do with roast beef leftovers and how-to-rekindle heat-stifled tastebuds.

For a "Buffet Salad Vinaigrette" almost any kind of cold beef — roasted, cooked or charcoaled — can be used, provided the meat is sliced thinly and then cut into strips.

BUFFET SALAD

VINAIGRETTE

- 1 pound (3 cups) cold roast beef, cut into strips
- 1 small onion, thinly sliced
- Vinaigrette Marinade
- 2 quarts mixed salad greens
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Halved marinated artichoke hearts
- Tomato wedges

Combine beef strips and onion with Vinaigrette Marinade. Chill several hours or overnight. Drain, saving marinade. Break greens into bite size pieces in large bowl. Top with beef strips and onion. Combine sour cream with reserved marinade. Toss with salad greens and beef. Garnish with artichoke hearts and tomato wedges. Makes 6 servings.

VINAIGRETTE MARINADE: Combine 1/4 cup EACH red wine vinegar and water, 2 tablespoons EACH lemon juice and sugar, 1/4 teaspoon dill seed, 1/2 teaspoon salt and dash white pepper. Simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Cool.

What You Should Know

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Mental Health

Mental Health, according to the California Medical Association is just as important as physical well being.

Depression

Depression is considered by some doctors to be the most undertreated of all major medical conditions.

It is estimated some 15 per cent of adults between the ages of 18 and 74 may suffer from serious depressive symptoms although less than five per cent of those seek some sort of medical assistance.

In most cases doctors confront, the patients say they "hurt" instead of saying "I am sad". Such a patient may go to his doctor complaining of some chronic problem such as backache or headache.

In most cases, depression cures itself. It only becomes a medical problem when it immobilizes a person. It may lead to such a complete withdrawal that the patient refuses to get out of bed or it may be combined with agitation, insomnia or lack of appetite.

There are two basic types of depression, one caused by psychological forces in which the sense of loss is often a key factor and the other which is caused by a genetic factor or abnormalities in body chemistry.

Suicide

About 24,000 persons are known to commit suicide in this country each year and a much larger number attempt it.

About three times as many women attempt suicide yet it is the men who are successful by nearly 3 to 1.

Suicide is now the second leading cause of death in young people ages 15 to 24. The act is one of impulse rather than planning. It stems from feelings of loneliness, helplessness or hopelessness. Often deep depression is involved.

Suicide is an unthinking response to frustration or disappointment. Attempted suicide is now recognized as a "cry for help."

The California Medical Association suggests:

—Every suicide threat be taken seriously; persons who threaten suicide often do follow through.

—The suicidal person should not be ignored on the assumption time will alleviate the problem.

—A helpful person should listen but not argue with the person and should never try to analyze the distressed person's behavior for them.

Marriage Problems

The romantic notion that marriage is always free of trouble and that the partners in a healthy marriage live happily ever after is a product of unrealistic novels, TV stories and movies.

Actually, marriages, like all other human relationships, are often beset by strain and difficulty.

The five warning signs of a troubled marriage are:

- Bottling up feelings and resentments that should be talked out. The husband and wife may harbor minor grudges, suspicions and resentments which snowball into major proportions. Effective communication is the essence.
- Lack of agreement about family decisions including finances. One partner makes a major decision about family life without consulting the other. Family decisions require mutual discussion and compromise.

- Sexual dysfunction. It has been said often that every unhappy marriage has a serious sexual problem. Sexuality is always complicated and sometimes difficult to discuss. However, the vast majority of sexual problems would not occur if husbands and wives could talk with one another about sex.

- Unfaithfulness may occur spontaneously or it may be the result of one partner feeling neglected. It should be discussed and examined — and not made an automatic reason for divorce.
- One partner becomes clinically depressed or withdrawn. What can be done? The California Medical Association suggests: "Improve communication... Sleep on the problem in order to get a little perspective."

Scenic SD Book Highlights Beauty

AMERICA'S FINEST CITY IN COLOR, published by Ventures International, is a new 68-page full color pictorial.

An 8½x11 softbound book, it illuminates San Diego County from border-to-border and even below to Tijuana. Focusing on photographs of the county's natural beauty — beaches, deserts, mountains and many cities — SAN DIEGO IN COLOR says San Diego like no other viewbook previously available, it was said.

Produced by San Diegos for both visitors and residents, the pictorial features 22 of the areas finest photographers, a text writer who knows the county's every nuance and a designer who has lived in the area for 18 years.

"We live in what I feel is one of the most beautiful places on earth," said Nicky Kronick, publisher. "We wanted to convey San Diego's unique environment in a visual way — one in which everyone who lives or visits can relate. I feel we have accomplished our goal and kept the price within the means of just about everybody."

It is priced at $4.95 and being distributed to county newstands and bookstores this week by San Diego Periodical.

As the book's initial send-off, Milaine Christiansen-Burns, proprietor of The Book Works, Flower Hill Center, 2670 Via de la Valle, Del Mar, is having a champagne reception August 14 to which the public is invited.

Heart Class Starts

Classes in cardio pulmonary resuscitation will be held August 18-19 at the Lemon Grove Fire Station.

Limit to the class is 50 and the cost is 25 cents for the two-class course.

Classes instruct care of victims struck with a heart problem.

Cubic Earnings Up

Cubic Corporation's earnings and revenues reached record high levels for the nine months ending June 30, the company announced.

All major divisions and subsidiaries, including the Defense Systems Division and U. S. Elevator are reportedly operating profitably.

STARTER — Former Ram star quarterback Jim Harris is scheduled to start Saturday's game for the Chargers when they host the San Francisco 49ers at the S.D. Stadium at 6.

Chargers Host 49ers In Saturday Opener

James Harris is scheduled to start at quarterback Saturday night when the San Diego Chargers play their first 1977 preseason game at home, meeting the San Francisco 49ers at 6 p.m. in San Diego and attempting to even their preseason record at 1-1.

Harris, acquired in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams June 14, has established himself as the Chargers' number one quarterback in training camp, although he did not play in last week's opening, 34-14 loss to the Dallas Cowboys. The Chargers defeated the 49ers 13-7 Dec. 5, 1976, in their last home game. They have split two regular season contests with the 49ers and trail the preseason series 4-3.

The 49ers lost their opening preseason game to Seattle 34-24 in Ken Meyer's debut as head coach. The ingredients for an outstanding 49ers offense were evident; they rushed for 193 yards and quarterback Jim Plunkett, slimmed down from 226 to 206, after dieting during the off-season, completed 9 of 11 passes for 91 yards in the first half.

Despite the loss to Dallas the Chargers had some impressive performances. Wide receiver Johnny Rodgers broke a 68-yard punt return for a touchdown in his first NFL game.

"I caught it on the dead run," said Rodgers. "If anybody catches me when I'm at full speed, it'll snow here tomorrow."

The temperature in Texas Stadium was 96 degrees. There was no forecast for inclement weather.

Rookie quarterback Cliff Olander, the Chargers' second choice in the fifth round of the draft, entered the game with 9:07 remaining and marshaled a touchdown drive of 38 yards in 5 plays during his second offensive series.

Olander completed 4 of 8 passes for 64 yards and threw a 25-yard touchdown pass to Dwight McDonald.

Olander came to camp primarily as a punter, although he had shown promise as a quarterback at New Mexico State. "I can't remember a rookie quarterback who had as little work (in training camp) looking as good as he did against such an outstanding team," said Prothro.

Radio coverage of the 49ers game will begin at 4 p.m. on KSDO (1130) with Charger Talk, hosted from the San Diego Stadium Club by Bob Chandler and Bruce Walton. John DeMott is host for the Tommy Prothro Show at 5:35. The game broadcast starts at 5:50. DeMott and Jerry Gross will handle the microphone. Tom Kelly and Lave Levy are announcers for the television segment on Channel 6.

Air Compressor Taken

An air compressor valued at $250 was carted from Jollett Motors July 29 while Howard Jollett, the owner, was away from the premises at 7644 Broadway, Lemon Grove.

The equipment was removed from an unlocked garage, it was reported.

Short Home Stand for Pads Braves Tonight; Astros Fri.

For all practical purposes, the San Diego Padres really didn't have much time to do anything other than unpack their bags as the club's current homestand is winding down even as it gets started.

The National League schedule calls for a highly unusual four-date homestand with two dates each with the Atlanta Braves and Houston Astros accounting for a total of five games. The stand got underway yesterday and will conclude Sunday.

But, back to the actual line-up of playing dates.

The Padres will close out their three-games, two-dates series with Atlanta tonight at 7. The two clubs had opened the brief homestand with a two-night double-header yesterday.

Then, the Pads will take on the Astros for two single games on Friday at 7 p.m. and put the finishing touches on things Sunday afternoon, at 1. The two clubs will be idle on Saturday due to a football game in San Diego Stadium.

On The Road

Following the series with the Astros, the Padres will be hitting the road for their final extended road swing of the season. San Diego will open the 8-game jaunt with 3 games against the Reds' in Cincinnati, Monday through Wednesday. After an open date on August 18, the Padres will head for St. Louis for three with the Cardinals August 19-21 and then it will be a pair in Pittsburgh with the Pirates on August 22-23.

Not only will the trip be the final lengthy one of the year for the club, but it will also mark the last visit of the season to St. Louis and Pittsburgh although it will not be the last meeting of the season with the two clubs as both the Cards and the Bucs have return engagements in San Diego in late August.

Padres on TV

The upcoming road swing will also be featuring the return of the Padres to the television screen as the club will have the August 16-17 games telecast live back to San Diego each day at 5 p.m. on XETV (Channel 6) plus the August 20 game in St. Louis will be televised live, also at 5 p.m.

Looking slightly ahead, the Padres will pretty much have things going their way following the road trip as the club will have just 33 games remaining on the schedule and all but 12 of those will be at home. In fact, only seven of the remaining road tilts will be out of the state of California as the Padres have five with Los Angeles and San Francisco.

33 Teams For SV Rec. League

A record 33 teams began play last week in the Spring Valley Park and Rec. Dist. Adult Softball League. Some of the names are slightly altered to satisfy the policy of a family newspaper.

Co-eds. Winners: Hackers, SV Rec No. 2, Local 1490, Outpost, Misfits. Losers: Bud's, Bares, Slides, HimHer, Title.

Men's American. Winners: Company, Gang, Drifters, Ma Bell. Losers: Mailmen, Sticks, Rec'ers.

National League. Winners: Mac's, 57's, Roadrunners, Long Ball. Losers: Leftovers, EBCO, Radiator.

Breakers Eye Playoffs in Pair of Games

With less than four weeks remaining in the regular IVA season, the defending champion Breakers are among seven teams aiming at the league's four playoff spots.

The Breakers have two key matches this week, as they play host tonight to El Paso/Juarez and Friday to Santa Barbara. Both games start at 7:30 p.m. in Golden Hall of the Community Concourse.

The Breakers have a season record of 9-13. They have continued to stay on the heels of second place Santa Barbara in the Western Division.

Tonight's atch against El Paso/Juarez will feature the Breakers' second "Family Night" in as many weeks. An entire family may sit in the best seats available for only $8.

Football Gifts for Junior Chargers

Applications for the Junior Chargers Club are available to boys and girls 14 and under. The applications may be obtained at San Diego-area boys' clubs, YMCA's, city park and recreation centers, San Diego Dodge dealers, and Jack in the Box restaurants.

For $1, the club offers a Junior Chargers kit, a free $8.50 reserved seat ticket (when accompanied by a paying adult) to the preseason game against Seattle September 11; a special Junior Chargers monthly newsletter and discounts, a compliments of Square Pan Pizza; a day at Sea World October 22, and a clinic conducted by Chargers coaches and players November 22.

Stand Fans Enter Races At SB Track

Don Hicks and Ken Snelling continue to blitz the street and super stock car field at South Bay Park Speedway 117's 1/4 mile but they may have to look out for a few newcomers. They'll be coming out of the stands.

The track that presented Rent-A-Racer is going one better and the South Bay Racing Assn. has come up with a Walter Mitty idea. That's Friday night.

Beginning Friday night a fan each week will be drawn by number on his ticket stub to be outfitted with a car free of charge and given a chance to drive in the street stock main event.

Last week, young Bob Tucker of El Cajon was chosen, given a few practice laps at intermission in a competitive machine and then started at the rear of the 20-car field. Tucker, who said he had never raced before, finished in seventh place.

Time trials for the supers will begin at 7 p.m. The first race is scheduled for an 8:30 p.m. start.

Hicks, of National City, won his 9th street stock main last week and moved ahead of Del Baker of Chula Vista by 155 points in the championship battle.

Snelling will be pointing for his 8th win and has moved into fourth place in the super standings. Leader John Cartwright heads fellow Spring Valley resident, Jim Pavlick, 1,255 points to 1,245. Hicks is third with 985 and Snelling next with 870.

In the street division, Don Jackson of Otay Mesa is in third place, followed by Jim Brown and H. D. Jackson, both of Spring Valley.

The streeters will compete in a 20-lap feature after heats and a trophy dash while super stocks will take off in a 30-lap affair.

Padres-Reds Game On TV Tues.-Wed.

Channel 6's live transmission of Padre road games will continue from Riverfront Stadium in Cincinnati Tuesday and Wednesday, with starting time for both contests with the Reds set at 5 p.m.

The first use of Western Union's Westar satellite for Channel 6 Padre baseball coverage was also from Cincinnati on April 9, traveling the distance of some 45,000 miles. To date, 10 Padre games have been carried by XETV.

Jerry Coleman and Bob Chandler handle play-by-play and color for the televised contests.

Mexican Spikers In USD Gym Play

The Mexican National Volleyball team will be making a rare San Diego appearance Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the U.S.D. Gymnasium. The Nationals will play a team of San Diego all-stars and admission will be free.

Playing for San Diego will be former San Diego State All-Americans: Bob Clem, Mark Warner, and Mike Floyd. Also playing are Tom Asher (former All-American at Long Beach State) and Ted Winfield (member of the 1977 USUBA National Championship team).

The Mexican National team consists of players who participated for Mexico in the pre-Olympic zone playoffs in 1976. During the pre-Olympic tournament Mexico defeated the USA entry on its way to a second place finish behind Cuba (the eventual bronze medal winner at Montreal).

Gardena Race Pits Arizona vs. Calif.

GARDENA — Jerry Miller and Darrel Dockery of Phoenix and Larry Demaree of Albuquerque will lead a 10-man Arizona Racing Assn. delegation to J. C. Agajanian's Ascot Saturday night at 8 p.m. to conclude a two-race interstate series.

The Arizonans and the Calif. Racing Assn. met in the first half of the competition at Phoenix, July 23, and agreed on a $500 bonus championship payoff to be awarded after the race at Ascot this Saturday.

CRA's top point getters appears to be in good position coming back to their home track. Rick Goudy of Cerritos finished second at Manzanita, Dean Thompson of Redondo Beach third, and Jimmy Oskie of Downey fourth.

Of the Arizona group joining the competition at Ascot, Dockery and Demaree may be the biggest threats. Dockery is one of three Arizonans to win a main event at Ascot in the last 15 years. Demaree, who ranks second in his New Mexico Racing Assn., is an unknown quantity at Ascot, but he has done well on his visits to Manzanita Speedway in Phoenix, also a dirt track.

In addition to the ARA-CRA competition, an added attraction for the program will be the personal appearance of Ron Howard, co-star of the television series "Happy Days."

Howard will give away 200 tickets for his new movie, "Grand Theft Auto," and participate in trophy presentations.

IMPORT SHOW — The 4th Annual Import and Sports Car Show now on the Mall College Grove Shopping Center will continue through Sunday. Above is Melanie Sullivan "Miss Sports Car" and Pat Dilly, official of Balboa Datsun in National City, are with a Datsun 280Z/2X2 5 speed Competition Street Model.

Import, Sports Car Show On College Grove Mall

The 4th annual Import and Sports car show opens a 4-day run today thru Sunday on the Mall at College Grove Shopping Center. A special feature of the show will be personal appearance of "Balboa Racing Team" and noted race driver Pat Dilly, an official of Balboa Datsun. Also participating in the show will be the Sports Car Club of America and the S.D. Mercedes Club. Show hours will be the same as store hours, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday; 10 to 6 Saturday and 12 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The show is produced by George Calhoun Ent. and is sponsored by College Grove Merchants Assn.

There is no admission charge.

Closing Week Draws Champ To Los Alamitos Saturday

LOS ALAMITOS — World Champion Dash For Cash, winner of the Vessels Maturity in his only start this season will go to the post in the 23rd renewal of the $100,000 Los Alamitos Championship at the Orange County track Saturday night, climaxing the final full week of the summer season.

Another highlight of the weekend will be the $10,000-added Josie's Bar Stakes for 3-year-olds, to be run Friday at 550 yards. First post time each night is 7:45 p.m. for the first of five exacta races, including $2 Exactas on the first and eighth races.

Dash For Cash, considered one of the finest quarter horses in the history of the sport, seemingly improves on an already brilliant record with each start. At the HQHRA winter meeting here last winter, the Rocket Wrangler colt won the rich Champion of Champions, winning clear over the finest horses in the land in 21.17 seconds for 440 yards.

That winning clocking eclipsed the track record for the distance by .32 seconds. The previous mark of 21.49 was set by the great Jet Deck 13 years prior in 1963.

After that start the 1976 Horse Of The Year was bred to 20 mares in a six month absence from training. After working just once, in a fine 17.60 seconds, Dash For Cash cameback to win the Vessels Maturity here on July 2, defeating Flashy Go. Moore and A Zure Request in 21.56 seconds, the fastest clocking at night in the track's history.

Titles Galore At Coliseum Tues. Night

There's a wrestling match Tuesday at the Coliseum where the loser really leaves town. "This time we mean it," said Danny Millsap, Coliseum promoter. "There will be no disqualifications, no time limit, no arguments. The loser—out!"

The match is an American title bout in which Roddy Piper has his belt, as well as his San Diego address, on the line. He is being challenged by Chavo Guerrero. Goodbye, someone.

In a title tag team match, Mando Guerrero and Tom Jones, titlists, meet the Gorman brothers. One brother as masked; the other has a heavy shock of hair. The champs could lose their title. If the Gordmans lose, the masked one becomes unmasked and the hairy one gets a head shave in the ring.

In other bouts Texas Red meets Barry-O and Rebel Bill Ash grapples with Dynamite Don. Wrestling starts at 7:30 p.m. The Coliseum is at 15th and E. sts.

Championship. If not, the services of leading rider Danny Cardoza will be sought.

Five stakes events will highlight the final five nights of the season. After the Josie's Bar and Championship, the Juvenile and Consolation Stakes for 2-year-olds will be held on Monday and Tuesday, with distance runners going in the Marathon Stakes, richest added money event at 870 yards in the state, on closing night.

Renato Garcia To Defend 8-0 Coliseum Record

A strange thing happened to the headliner of last week's boxing card at the S.D. Coliseum. He got knocked out in a fight in Canada.

State boxing law is that no fighter may fight for 30 days after a knockout. Mike Avans, the headliner, got KO'd 2 days before his scheduled S.D. appearance.

That washed out the main go.

A 6-round semi went down the tubes when one of the boxers couldn't meet the transportation requirements. He couldn't get there, he told Coliseum promoters by phone. So the whole card was scrubbed.

But what appears to be an even better card is listed for Friday night with action to start at 8:15. There are 30 rounds on the docket.

The main event reacquaints local fans with Renato Garcia of Santiago, Chilean middleweight champion, who will scrap Jose Gonsalves of Oakland. That will be 10 rounds or less. Garcia has a 8-0 string in San Diego.

A 6-round lightweight match-up has Gene "Hardboiled" Haggerty of Placentia meeting Frank Battaglia of L.A.

Dave Portell of Hawthorne takes on Guillermo Gonzales of L.A. in a 5-round lightweight scrap.

In a 5-round middleweight match, Ricky Gibbs meets Robby Epps. Both are from L.A. and in a 4-round heavyweight match, Rick Mills of Hollywood fights Bobby Bryant of S.D.

La Mesa's Trash Service Up 60¢

The cost of hauling refuse away in La Mesa is going up. The La Mesa City Council approved Tuesday a 21 percent increase in the residential rate for refuse removal.

The present monthly rate of $2.85 will be increased to $3.45 beginning November 1.

The reason for the jump in charges was due to a county move to increase the cost 150 percent for dumping into county owned landfills.

Bass Fishing Contest Sunday

News of the Third Annual San Diego Bay Bass Fishing Tournament is traveling fast. This year the trophies and grand prize list is growing day by day. Co-Chairmen, Larry Thomas and Pete Aardema are primarily interested in getting entries in fast so they will know how much free refreshments to order.

This year's contest, as in the years past, is to be a fun time for the hundreds of participants and spectators who come from far and wide to fish for the biggest bass in the bay.

Prizes will include over $3,000 in merchandise. Mercury Outboard Motors, depth finders, RDF Valco boats, anchors, skis, bait tanks, boat seats, custom rods, plus fishing tackle, marine equipment, accessories and trophies for the biggest fish winners. Last year over 100 entries competed.

Launching for the event will take place before 6 a.m. at the Shelter Island Boat Launching ramp. Check-in time will be 2:30 p.m. the same day.

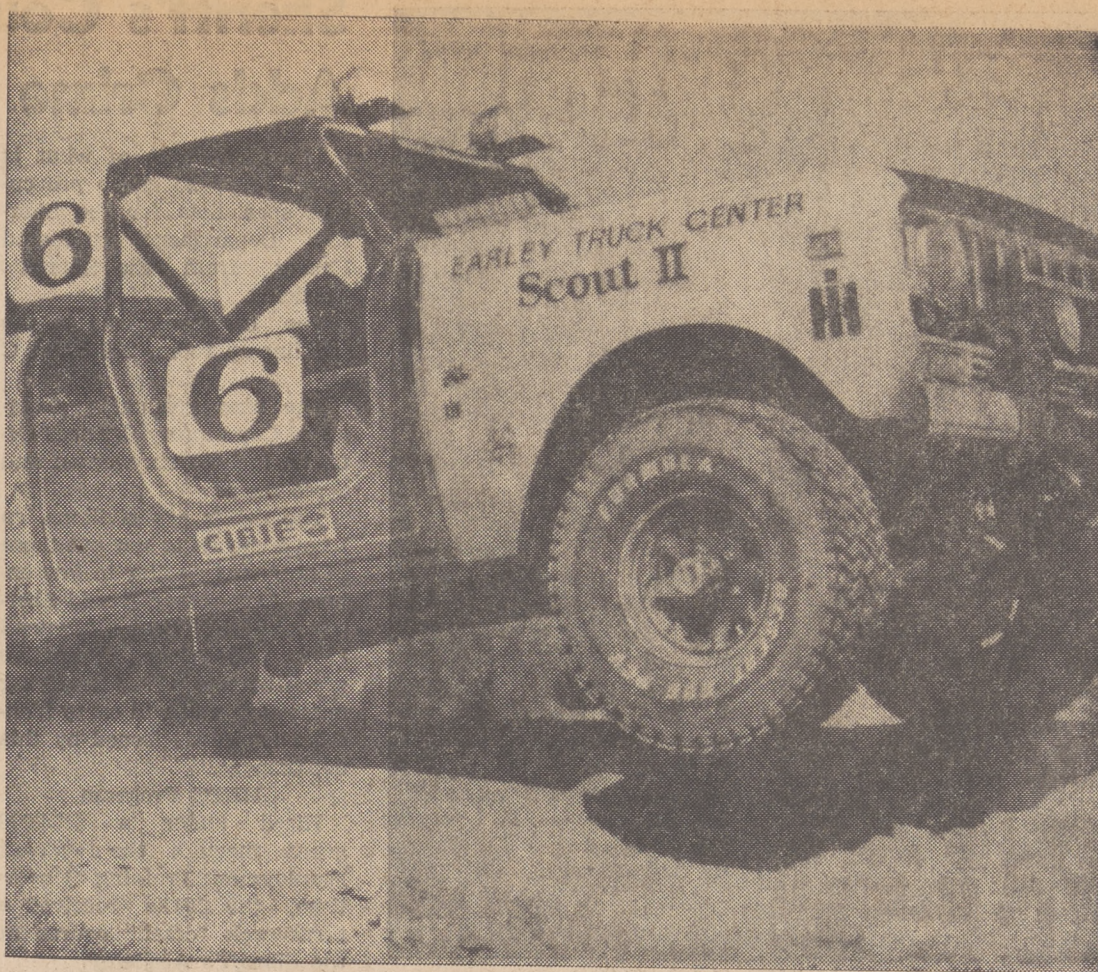

Each team must consist of two people who may register before the tournament begins.

BoE in Record Tax Collection

The State Board of Equalization deposited more money on August 1 than on any single day in its 98-year history.

Iris Sankey, San Diego member of the State Board of Equalization, reported that more than $189 million was processed and deposited by Board employees between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. The deposit consisted of business tax receipts, primarily sales tax payments.

Sankey said that the total of $189,429,120.09 exceeded by $15.1 million the previous record set on November 1, 1976, when the total topped $174 million.

LOCAL DRIVER — Frank Howarth of Lemon Grove leaps out of the desert dust just after leaving the second checkpoint during the Mint 400 earlier this year.

The dust won't be as heavy but the action will be just as wild at the 5th annual SCORE World Championships August 27-28 at Riverside International Raceway.

Area Racers in Championship Try

Three entries from the off-road talent rich San Diego County area are among the first to be received by SCORE International for the 5th annual Off-Road World Championships August 27-28 at Riverside International Raceway.

Among the three is the rapidly improving team of Jimmy Jones and Virgil Domer in a 1977 International Harvester Scout.

Jones, 37, of La Mesa began the season with Frank Howarth of Lemon Grove. But during the campaign, Jones joined with Domer, 44, of El Cajon and Howarth set out on his own.

Now, for the World Championships, Jones will be racing against his former partner Howarth who has his own 1976 Scout. Howarth is entered as a solo effort for the biggest show of the SCORE season.

Both production four-wheel-drive vehicles are entered under the sponsorship of the Jim Earley Truck Center of El Cajon.

As a team, Jones and Howarth finished 13th in class in the prestigious Baja 1000.

Was 4th in June

Since venturing out on his own, Jones and his co-driver Domer have finished seventh in the Parker 400 and fourth in the Baja International in June.

Howarth finished 17th at Parker and 15th in Baja.

Last year in the World Championships, Jones and Howarth finished 9th in class.

Also among the early entries from the San Diego area is Mike Menko, 44 of Olivehain, in a stock VW. Menko finished ninth in the show-room stock VW class at the World Championships last year.

While these three entries are early, they are nowhere near the last expected by SCORE International officials from the hotbed of off-roading, San Diego County.

The World Championships are the once-a-year spectator event for the sport, and tickets are on sale throughout San Diego County at all Ticketron outlets.

Crosby, Read 'Caps Highlight Del Mar Card

Del Mar's sprint champion of the 1977 Thoroughbred racing season will be crowned Saturday in the $25,000-added Bing Crosby Handicap and many of the West's top grass horses will tangle Sunday in the $40,000-added Eddie Read Handicap to highlight the racing week at the seaside track.

As an added attraction Sunday Del Mar will present a "Parade of Stars" featuring between-races appearances by four of the greatest Thoroughbreds currently competing in America — Crystal Water, J. O. Tobin, Cascapedia and Ancient Title. Crystal Water and Cascapedia will engage in workouts, while J. O. Tobin and Ancient Title are scheduled to gallop on parade, respectively.

Seven-year-old speedster Cherry River, Del Mar's champion sprinter last summer after capturing the six-furlong Crosby 'Cap, will return in an attempt to make it two wins in a row. The Bounding Main gelding demonstrated he's lost none of his zip by running six furlongs in 1:08 1/5 in his seasonal debut recently.

Seeking to spoil Cherry River's bid will be such fast horses as Hameras, winner of the Albany Handicap at Golden Gate Fields and stakes-placed in sprints at both Santa Anita and Hollywood Park; the always-hard-to-catch Cute and Deadly, World Pleasure, successful in 1:08 1/5 at Del Mar this season, and Louis L., another recent winner.

The Eddie Read Handicap, contested at a mile and one-eighth on the grass promises to attract an outstanding field of turf specialists, including Mrs. Connie M. Ring's vastly improved Today 'n Tomorrow, upset hero of the Sunset Handicap on closing-day at Hollywood Park.

Today 'n Tomorrow, stablemate of Crystal Water conditioned by Roger Clapp, led from wire-to-wire to win the mile and one-half Sunset Handicap under the expert rating of Bill Shoemaker.

Expected to oppose Today 'n Tomorrow, who won the La Jolla Mile in 1976 at Del Mar, are such hard-hitting campaigners as Announcer, Top Crowd, No Turning, Antique, Chindo, Star Ball, Practitioner, Chill the Kite and Montespan.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

I guess I'll never understand football, women's logic of politicians. With more than 100 years of coaching experience among them, you have to wonder how the Charger mentor managers ever allowed the set up known as their EX-punt formation.

It looks like a play left over from Harland Svare's famous "sieve" formations.

Charger head-master Tommy Prothro has rejected this opponent point scoring lineup, proving once again that, after the fact, Tommy is just as smart as any of his fans.

Women's logic escapes me completely. Right in my own home. My lovely Lady and I have six children, three boys and three of the other kind. Like other females, they all take great pride in being able to enjoy shopping for hours without buying anything.

In our Padre household, one of the girl children roots for the hated Los Angeles Dodgers. Why?

I'm glad you asked. Because, according to her, their uniforms fit snuggler and look prettier.

With all the statistics running up the side of a football score card one more is needed, according to my oldest she-kid. Mixed in with each player's position, age, height, weight and experience, she wants a column indicating his marriageable status.

"A girl has a right to know if a guy is married or single before she cheers for him," is her logic. "In fact, they ought to list him as married, engaged or available."

"A lot of guys are married and still available," cracked her brother, who seems to understand what the hell they were talking about.

"This is not a fittin' conversation for your mother to hear," I said, closing the subject and turning to politicians.

"I see where Councilman Lee Hubbard is leading the fight to close Black's Beach," I said to my collected offspring. "I wonder why."

"Don't tell us you're in favor of Black's Beach," chortled the oldest girl. "I can't believe you approve of such bare facts."

"Everybody has to have someplace," I said. "The purpose of legalizing nudity on Black's Beach was to remove it from other beach areas where it used to happen."

Almost everybody remembers the stories. Attempts at topless bathing all over the beach with full bare backsides on the cliffs at Sunset and rocks at Pt. Loma. Black's Beach was opened to the buff crowd and nudity disappeared from the rest of San Diego's beaches. More importantly, very little beach trouble followed the population into the 900 foot section of bare beach tucked in under the slopes of Torrey Pines.

"We have very little trouble up there," said one life-guard official. "We have to set up a cliff rescue almost every week, but that's because there's no real access to the beach. A path is supposed to be constructed from the bluffs down to the beach through Indian Canyon before next summer. Add some parking — there's plenty of room — and most of the problems that exist will solve themselves."

"What about crime?" I wondered. "Isn't there a lot of crime up there on Black's Beach?"

"Not really," was the answer. "Our job is to save people from drowning. We really don't look for crime. Oh, I suppose there's a few guys selling beer out of ice chests and things like that, but that happens everywhere. Just call cops and they take him away."

That makes you wonder what undercover cops would wear while watching Black's Beach action. And where on earth would they hide their badges? The only sure bet is there would be no shortage of volunteers for the duty.

What bothers me is the logic of it all. Lee Hubbard is leading the fight to get Black's Beach closed and he's not even running for reelection. I guess the biggest crime at Black's is the trying to close it.

Ilie Nastase, Strings, Visit Friars Tonight

Ilie Nastase, in livid color, will parade his unique brand of tennis skill and conduct at the Sports Arena tonight in his final season's appearance against the San Diego Friars.

Nastase officially will hit his first ball at 7:30. Whatever else he may strike may occur earlier.

The Friars are playoff bound while Nastase and his L.A. Strings, including Rosie Casals and Charlie Pasarell, are not. But the unpredictable Romanian creates his own playoff atmosphere. It seems as if any tennis court at any time is his private carpet of controversy.

His talent is unchallenged. So is his fan appeal. He has motivated major crowds wherever he has appeared and the San Diego management expects a strong-in-numbers congregation Thursday evening.

The first 3,000 persons through the Sports Arena doors will be offered free a color poster of Nastase. Naturally, some will decline, believing that Ilie is better viewed at a distance.

It'll also be 25-cent beer night, allowing those of age who are so motivated to participate in the beverage of moderation for such a modest price.

But the big show — beer, posters or otherwise, is the man himself.

"I don't dislike playing Nas-tase," said San Diego's Rod Laver. "But I don't always enjoy the things he does. Some of them have no place on a tennis court."

Player-coach Cliff Drysdale offers a similar refrain.

"You try not to let what he does affect your play," Drysdale says, "but that's not always possible."

The match is more than an exercise for the Friars who will meet the Golden Gators in the first round of the playoffs.

The Friars have announced that playoff tickets are now on sale. San Diego will play Wednesday night in the Sports Arena against Golden Gate and seats priced at $5, $6, $8.50 and $15 are available at the Sports Arena box office.

Meal Card Plan Adopted for L.G. Schools

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees have adopted a staff recommendation to develop a new lunch card system for the seven area schools.

The cards will allow students to purchase 28 meals for $10, a savings of about $1.20 over the 40 cent daily rate.

Dr. Robert Sutton, district superintendent, said the main objective of the program was to eliminate the class time used in collecting lunch money.

The lunch card, three by five cards bearing an identification number in the upper right hand corner will be sold in convenient places around area schools, on Mondays and Tuesdays.

Trustee Vicky Morgan provided the only scrutiny to the proposal when she asked Mrs. Ruth Pfister, director of lunch programs for the Lemon Grove district, the purpose of the identification numbers.

"I'm sure that will be the first question we get on these cards," said Morgan.

Director Pfister said federal requirements mandate every meal sold in public schools must be identified anonymously in some manner.

Also included in the meal package passed Thursday by the Trustees were increases in the school breakfast program at Vista La Mesa.

Prices for breakfast now stand at 25 cents and the 3X5 meal cards for 28 meals will cost $6.25.

Like those for lunch, the breakfast cards will be stamped to show the number of meals used.

Also, the board moved to introduce the breakfast program at Golden Avenue School.

Dog Obedience Class Held

Dog Obedience classes given by the San Diego County Humane Society will begin August 23.

Dogs must be over 4 months old and have proof of rabies, distemper, hepatitis and leptospirosis shots. Pre-registration is required and a veterinarian's certificate for the shots must be presented at that time.

Cost of the course is $20 and will be held on Thursday afternoons. Class is eight weeks long.

Also evening classes will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The Humane Society's phone number is 299-7012.

GIFTS FROM NORWEGIAN ROTARY — Greta Berg, who returned in June from a year's study in Norway under a program sponsored by Rotary International, displays a pennant and a vase given to her by her host Rotary Club in Norway, the Rotary Syd Club of Tromsø.

Rotarian Scholar Relates Norwegian Stay to LG Club

"And the hardest thing for me to get used to was the cold," was the word from returning Rotarian International Fellowship winner Greta Berg of 2601 Sheri Lane in Lemon Grove.

Miss Berg returned to her home here in early June from a year of study at the University of Tromsø, near the Arctic Circle in Northern Norway.

Speaking before the Lemon Grove Rotary Club at their Monday luncheon at the Bowl-ero, Miss Berg said the highlights of her stay was an audience with Norway's King Olaf at his summer palace, a visit to the Russian border, visits with various Rotary Clubs in Norway including her chief host, the Rotary Club of Tromsø, and especially the weather — which is quite opposite the balmy 70's of Southern California. The thermometers there dip from a cool 13 below to a frigid 28 below zero F.

"It was very exciting to experience such temperatures for the first time," she said.

Schooling

As part of the fellowship sponsored by the Rotarians, Miss Berg enrolled in the University of Tromsø, a well overcrowded college in the Northern Norwegian city of 44,000 people.

"I was very lucky the Rotary club in Tromsø found housing in Tromsø for me," she explained. "The waiting list for student housing in Tromsø is two years."

Miss Berg said the classes, even though in English, were much tougher than what she received at the University of California Santa Cruz, the school where she received her bachelor's degree in physical therapy before leaving for Norway.

"Most of the young people in Norway speak English," she explained to local Rotarians. "Since the texts used in class were in English, I was allowed to write my exams in my native language."

When asked if many of the medical terminology used in her studies contained latin roots, Miss Berg said some were basic latin while the majority were colloquial Norwegian expressions.

Impressions
She told the Rotarians production of off-shore oil rigs, quickly becoming a major export for Norway, has been stepped up.

Also the cost of living, which shoots the price of gasoline for example toward the $1.50 per gallon mark, is extremely high in a country which must import everything but offshore fish.

"Rent, food, fresh vegetables are extremely high priced," she explained and added, "But students have it very well there."

"If the cost of living was high," she continued, "families never expressed it. They much rather would prefer a little less government supervision."

Berg will begin her graduate work in physical therapy at Stanford University this fall.

CCA Volunteers Needed

600 volunteers are needed to staff water kit distribution depots in three-hour shifts to replace California Conservation Corps personnel required to fight fires in N. California.

To date 97,000 water conservation kits have been distributed and response to the program runs 20 per cent above the anticipated rate.

Those willing to donate time should call 235-0450 or 235-4038.

Group to Try Bringing Decision-Making Home

The Health Systems Agency of San Diego and Imperial Counties will go before the State Advisory Health Council August 19 to ask to be named as the governmental agency to do what is called "Certificate of Need reviews".

Certificate of Need reviews are done in the health system bureaucracy to determine whether existing medical facilities can increase the number of beds, add new services, or spend more than $150,000 for new equipment.

This job is done on the local hospitals now by the State Advisory Health Council.

William J. Bauer, a local attorney involved in the plan to bring the review decision making to the local group so far he knows of "no objections to this HSA (Health Systems Agency) being designated."

Sheriff's County Offices Adds Crime Specialists

The first nine of what is hoped to be 25 crime prevention specialists for the Sheriff's Department graduated Friday, from the Sheriff's Academy.

The ceremony was in the jail line-up room, 222 West C st.

The nine graduates, designated Community Services Officers, include six women and three men.

The CSOs are civilians, so I have chosen to not put them in uniforms similar to law enforcement officers," said Sheriff John F. Duffy. "Instead they will wear distinctive green blazers with identifying name tags and will carry identification cards issued by this department."

RETC Program
Hired under a $104,000 grant through the Regional Employment Training Consortium, the CSOs received a three-week "crash" course at the Sheriff's Academy.

"The course was heavy on methods of securing homes and businesses, preventing armed robberies, rape prevention and avoiding confidence games. There was also some basic criminal law and introduction to the Sheriff's Department and county government," Duffy said. The first group is assigned in Encinitos and Santee.

"Because we are starting with only nine CSOs, I'm mobilizing our Sheriff's Reserves and Explorers to aid in areas of crime prevention. This will not hamper their normal services in support of the Sheriff's Department, but will cut back severely in the help they have given other agencies during such special events as fairs, parades, and golf tournaments.

Priorities Eyed
"It's all a matter of priority," Duffy said.

The sheriff said the $104,000 grant was only one-third of the amount sought.

"The remaining $237,000 is now available, but we have been having trouble shaking it loose in order to hire another 16 people to operate from our other Sheriff's Stations," he said.

Duffy said he is sending another letter to Ruben Dominguez, the County's Human Resources Agency head who administers the funds, pointing out the necessity to move swiftly on this project which can have a great impact on citizen safety.

"That will give us 25 non-sworn personnel, plus five clerks, working for about $800 a month, doing a job that we are unable to do, due to the lack of higher paid deputies," he said.

"We are firmly convinced that in order to reduce crime we must have the resources to show people what they can do and what their responsibilities are in protecting themselves, their property, and the property of others.

We are giving crime prevention top priority in the Department, he said.

'Desert Song' at Starlight Given a Glowing Report

Theatre-goers who love musicals — and their number is legion — will not want to miss the current Starlight Theatre attraction, "Desert Song", by Sigmund Romberg. It's grand!

Anyone who faults a Romberg musical might be listed by the House Committee on Un-American Activities — a committee which went out of existence in the late Romberg years.

But Romberg is a Hungarian although he turned out musicals as American as hot dogs, ice cream, apple pie, and — well, Zaza Gabor. Romberg's works do not have American locales, but his story lines are only slightly different from soap operas which attract millions of women to daytime television.

"Desert Song" is about "Red Shadow" (Ron Husmann) a leader of an insurrectionist band of Riffs. He is actually the spineless son of the commander of a French Foreign Legion post in Morocco. He keeps his two identities secret and plays both roles flawlessly.

As the fearless Riff leader

he orders that no French be killed.

He is in love with Margot Bonvalet, (Hallie Neill) fiancée of a French captain. Her performance, too, is capital.

There is also a war correspondent, Bennie (Paul Russell) and a female pursuer, Susan (Hillary Maevety) who supply huge chunks of humor. Margaret Bicknell is a fiery harem dancer, Bob Kuhne, the captain, Dave Caylor as Red Shadow's aide and Nanon Tygett, sensuous and vindictive. Bicknell's performance, was, to me, extremely outstanding.

"Desert Song" is as good as any Starlight production we've seen. The performers gave substance to an age-old story that might otherwise be trite. All of the characters were believable. They were, indeed, part of the story.

"Desert Song" will play again August 11, 12, 13 and 14. For a pleasant experience under the stars at a play that will leave you with a happy lit, Starlight is the place to go. It could be seen twice with full enjoyment.

Enlistment Drops Cost Cal. Guard $131 Million

SACRAMENTO — The commanding general of the California National Guard now is saying the Guard faces a critical manpower shortage that could effect "hundreds of individuals and scores of communities."

Major General Frank J. Schober, Jr., head of the 22,000 man California National Guard cited the end of the draft as the primary reason for the Guard's inability to draw new recruits.

"The situation is critical in the extreme," said the general, "for a continuing inability to maintain authorized strength will result in loss of units to other states which have been more successful in maintaining membership at prescribed levels."

The general expressed concern the Guard's enlistment is 88.3 per cent of federally authorized strength.

The Guard is scheduled to lose $131.5 million from the lack of new enlistments.

"Of this sum," said Schober who recently took time out from the Guard to head up the Drought Information Task Force, "the federal government contributes approximately $123.5 million and the state $8 million."

"If a company-sized unit of the California Guard is forced to disband or move to a more productive recruiting area," he continued, "the loss to the community is serious indeed.

Not only would the local community lose the inherent capabilities and community service benefits of the Guard, it would face an adverse economic impact of approximately one quarter of a million dollars of locally spendable federal income annually."

The money Schober cited comes from Guard purchases and supplies in the areas.

Since, the Guard has opened up an enlistment campaign called "Operation Grizzly", complete with a slogan: "Get Your Guard Up... Help Somebody, Including Yourself."

Also a toll free telephone number has been purchased for people seeking Guard enlistment. The number is 800-638-7600.

Freight Stop's Loss is $130

A customer of the Freight Stop Tavern, 3645 Imperial ave. in Lemon Grove, asked to use the telephone in the tavern office rather than the pay phone.

If what the management believes is true, it was a costly nicety because $130 was missing from an unlocked money box in the unlocked safe which is in the office.

The incident occurred at 10:45 p.m. July 28 and the suspects denied any knowledge of the theft.

'Jaws' Beanie for Kids

As if the coonskin cap wasn't enough, a California designer has come up with a "Jaws" beanie for kids.

According to Raymond Lee Organization of New York City, a private marketing firm, the novelty beanie for children will "simulate the ferocity of real sharks and the famous Hollywood phenomenon."

The beanies have adorned on their crowns soft plastic models featuring a "wide mouthed grin, full of sharp teeth, and two fierce eyes."

Also special effects features such as glowing eyes and teeth can be added, the designer, Glenn L. Walter of Victorville, California, added.

Loan Firm Opens SE-SD Loan Office

Residents of Southeast San Diego will be provided with a new source of loan services with the opening of a loan agency by Home Federal S&L Assn. of San Diego Monday.

The agency is designed to provide the community with a direct lending program.

"We will be offering a complete real estate lending program," said Reese Jarrett, agency manager. "This will include FHA/VA, conventional and construction loans in addition to consumer loans which include our equity and home improvement loan service."

This will be Home Federal's first office opened specifically to originate and process mortgage loans. It differs from customary loan departments, because as agency manager, Jarrett will take a more active role in informing the community of available loan services.

"I will certainly be accessible in the office," he explained. "But I will also have a field responsibility. I will go out and meet with the people of this community informing them of what Home Federal has to offer and answering any questions they may have."

The office will be at 1212 S. 43rd st., Suite "C".

S.D. Homes 6th Most Expensive in U.S.

Average house prices in the San Diego area have been set at $59,900 making San Diego the sixth most expensive area in the United States to buy a home.

Information received from the San Diego Chamber of Commerce also showed the average resale prices of area homes to be $59,400, fifth highest in the nation.

The rankings, compiled by the federal Home Loan Bank Board, showed home prices to be higher in Denver, Colorado; Los Angeles; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; San Francisco; and Washington, D.C.

The Chamber also reported residential construction in San Diego County topped 3,590 for May setting a new record for the first five months of this year. The number of housing starts in 1977 has been set at 16,204, a 54 per cent jump from the same period in 1976.

Danny Kaye to Conduct Symphony in Benefit

Danny Kaye, the only conductor in the world who cannot read music, will conduct the S.D. Symphony Orchestra in a special pension fund benefit concert October 26, 8 p.m. in the Civic Theatre.

In 20 years Kaye has raised $5 million for musicians' pension funds by performing with fine orchestras all over the world. For ticket reservation call 239-9721.

Kiwanis to Sponsor Stadium Heart Night

Kiwanis Clubs of San Diego and Imperial Counties will sponsor "Heart Night" at the San Diego Stadium when the San Diego Padres meet the St. Louis Cardinals, 7 p.m., Tuesday, August 30.

The event's theme is "Save a Life Through Heart C.P.R." and will support the cardiopulmonary resuscitation program of the San Diego County Heart Association. Tickets are $3.75 with one dollar from each ticket going to the Heart Fund.

Advance tickets may be purchased from any member of Kiwanis, or at the Heart Assn.'s office at 3640 5th ave., San Diego.

Locally tickets may be obtained from Lois Poluzzi at 466-7664.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF LEMON GROVE DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
Section 1. All properties within the boundaries of the City of Lemon Grove are hereby zoned and classified in accordance with San Diego County zoning ordinance 1402 (new series) as the same existed on July 1, 1977, and as said properties are further shown on the maps, charts, and diagrams referred to and made a part of said zoning ordinance; which zoning ordinance was adopted by this City under Lemon Grove Ordinance No. 1.

Section 2. Any and all permits, special use permits and other authorizations heretofore granted, made or issued pursuant to said zoning ordinance while the area now within the City of Lemon Grove was unincorporated territory, are hereby cancelled, annulled, revoked and terminated.

Section 3. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this ordinance, an exception is hereby automatically granted so as to permit any non-conforming buildings, structures and uses heretofore lawfully established and existing at date hereof to be conthrued during the term of this interim ordinance, upon and subject to all of the following conditions:

(a) Any such existing use was not at the time of incorporation of the City of Lemon Grove in violation of said San Diego County Zoning Ordinance or any other ordinance, regulation, permit or law;

(b) Only that portion of a property or properties actually so utilized for such existing use is granted an exception by this section from the provisions of Sections 1 and 2 of this ordinance;

(c) No existing use not in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 hereof may be added to, extended, expanded or enlarged;

(d) Preliminary preparation heretofore made for proposed use shall not constitute an existing use within the meaning of this Section 3.

Section 4. Any proceedings pending before the Planning Commission or Board of Supervisors of San Diego County with respect to the use of property now within the boundaries of the City of Lemon Grove, may, on request of the applicant, be transferred to the City Council of the City of Lemon Grove, and said City Council may hear and determine the same without further application, if the City Council finds that adequate notice thereof has been given or may be provided, and the zoning ordinance and justice would be served thereby.

Section 5. All proceedings which would come before the Planning Commission under the provisions of said San Diego County Zoning Ordinance, adopted by Ordinance No. 1 shall be heard and determined by the City Council, and all duties and functions of the Planning Commission under the provisions of said ordinance or pursuant to law, are assigned to and shall be performed and discharged by the City Council, pending the appointment of a City Planning Commission.

Section 6. Said San Diego County Zoning Ordinance, amended to July 1, 1977, all ordinances amending the same, and Ordinance No. 1 of the City of Lemon Grove, are amended to the extent of any conflict or inconsistency with this ordinance. The zoning map heretofore adopted by the County of San Diego, and any and all precise plans, maps and ordinances adopting the same, are hereby superseded and repealed to the extent of any conflict or inconsistency with this ordinance.

Section 7. If any provision of this ordinance, or any section, subsection, sentence, or phrase hereof, is held to be invalid or unenforceable, the remainder of this ordinance shall not be affected thereby. If this ordinance or any portion thereof shall be held invalid or unenforceable in its application to any person, circumstance or property, the application thereof to any other person, circumstance or property shall not be affected thereby.

Section 8. The City of Lemon Grove has just become incorporated as a general law city, on this date. The City Council intends to conduct studies forthwith, and further intends to appoint a Planning Commission to conduct studies within a reasonable time, as to the appropriate zoning and land use classification with respect to all properties now within the city limits of the City. Pending such studies, it is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, safety and welfare that this ordinance take effect immediately. In the absence of immediate effectiveness, land uses and development will be undertaken which may be in conflict with the zoning and land use classifications which are to be studied as above mentioned, compatible with proposed uses of adjacent properties, and detrimental to proper planning of the area. This ordinance is an interim ordinance and shall expire four (4) months after the date hereof, unless extended pursuant to the provisions of Section 65858 of the Government Code.

Serrano Compliance

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third and final segment of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles' series on the Serrano Decision and its effects on school finance.

SACRAMENTO — The state aid is being allocated to local school districts in California in violation of the State Constitution.

That's really what the state supreme court's Serrano decision said.

Local districts receive two kinds of aid from the state: general purpose funds to support a foundation program, and categorical aid to fund special needs.

Approximately 75 per cent of the $3 billion in state funds allocated to local districts each year is general aid for foundation support.

This portion of state aid the court ruled unconstitutional.

Here's how California's foundation aid program works:

First, the state establishes a per pupil expenditure foundation figure for each of the three kinds of local school districts.

For the 1976-77 school year, the foundation figures were: $1,012 per pupil for elementary school districts; $1,198 for high school districts; and for unified districts, $1,032 for elementary pupils and $1,218 for high school pupils.

Then, the state provides a minimum of $125 per pupil in basic aid to all local districts, rich or poor.

Next, the state determines how much of the foundation figure minus basic aid each district should be able to raise if it levies a certain property tax rate.

If it is determined that a local district can raise all of the foundation figure minus basic aid through local property taxes, then that district receives no further foundation support from the state. Such districts are known as basic aid districts.

They are, in fact, the state's high property wealth school districts.

Many districts, of course, cannot raise enough money through local property taxes to meet the per pupil foundation figure.

Mo-Ped Riders Must Have Valid Driver's License

SACRAMENTO — The current fad towards mo-peds has prompted this reminder from Department of Motor Vehicles officials to riders: You must have a driver's license or permit.

A motorized bicycle as defined by California law is any two or three wheeled vehicle of less than two horsepower which can be propelled by either human, electrical, or gasoline power and can reach a speed of not more than 30 miles per hour.

The law requires licenses or permits if the vehicle is ridden off the owner's private land.

Unlike a car or motorcycle, mo-peds do not require registration with the DMV but they are subject to local ordinances apply to bicycles.

Also, no additional classification on an operator's driver's license is needed to operate the motorized bicycle.

Several DMV offices have required inquiries about the use of mo-peds after youngsters were cited by police for riding them. The parents of those teenagers said they didn't know the licenses or permits were required by law.

The Motorized Bicycle Association in Washington, D.C. said about 20,000 of the two-wheelers are operating in California and about 15,000 of them have been purchased since January 1976 when current state law went into effect.

tion figure. In such cases, the state makes up the difference between what it can raise and the foundation figure minus basic aid.

This is known as equalization aid and such districts are known as equalization districts. They are districts with less property wealth per pupil.

Lemon Grove present is in this category.

Unfortunately, the system isn't quite as simple or as equitable as it seems. It has two shortcomings, each of which creates inequities.

First, because basic aid of $125 per pupil goes to all districts, even those with the most property wealth, the state is providing money to many districts that really don't need it.

Second, voters have to power to exceed state-imposed limits on per pupil spending through voter overrides, thus perpetuating inequities in per pupil expenditures.

Under the current system, per pupil expenditures in 1975-76 ranged from a low of $728 to a high of $4,918.

Put another way, one district spent only $728 on each of its pupils. Others spent as much as six times that amount.

The state supreme court said in its Serrano decision that differences in annual per pupil expenditures due to local property wealth must not exceed $100.

Alternative Solutions

The court suggested a variety of alternative solutions. Many are now being considered by the legislature.

There are four interrelated elements involved in a comprehensive approach to school finance. All four must be considered in any comprehensive solution to Serrano. The four elements are:

- Foundation financial support — the amount of money that's needed to pay for the basic education of the typical California child in the typical California school.
- Accountability and restructuring efforts, such as a new approach to early childhood education or the reform of intermediate and secondary education. To meet these needs we should invest about seven per cent of the foundation amount.
- Special pupil needs that cost more money. Handicapped children or those who come to school speaking a language other than English are examples.
- Operating cost differentials that take into account that some schools in various parts of the state have unusually high operating costs due to such things as extreme heating or air conditioning needs, or because their pupils must be transported long distances to and from school.

Special pupil needs and cost differentials among local districts must be considered in devising a truly equitable state school finance program. The court recognized this in its Serrano decision, saying: "An equal expenditure level per pupil in every district is not educationally sound or desirable because of differing educational needs."

Some of the suggestions coming from these panels have been:

- a rewrite on the DMV driver's manual,
- to make it more difficult for outsiders to gain information on individuals and vehicles,
- new program for senior citizens, students, and the disabled,
- public review of all DMV forms used by the public,

Booklet on Drugs

The Consumer Information Center in Colorado is offering a booklet designed to inform parents what kind of drugs their children are taking.

The booklet is free and titled "Questions and Answers About Drug Abuse".

The pamphlet is available from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 666E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

SDG&E Develops New Fertilizer

San Diego Gas and Electric Company has gone into the fertilizer business.

The gas company has begun to market a product they call "Soil-Life", a soil conditioner made from recycled, ground-up tree trimmings.

The trimmings come from pruning operations the gas company conducts to prevent trees and bushes from shorting out overhead power lines.

An estimated 15,000 cubic yards of trimmings are collected by SDG&E each year.

Currently, Soil-Life is on its way to local growers and landscapers to see how well it performs as a fertilizer.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Susan Freeman, right, receives a check for $500 from Mrs. Charlotte Holcomb, chairman for the San Diego Cowbelles Memorial Scholarship Fund. Freeman is a senior home economics major at Cal Poly State University in San Luis Obispo.

Jamul Student Receives Cowbelles Memorial Award

A senior home economics major from Jamul has been awarded a $500 scholarship to complete her studies at Cal Poly State University in San Luis Obispo.

Awarded the Cowbelles Memorial Scholarship was Susan Freeman of 14852 Lyons Valley rd., Jamul; a long-time active member of the Jamul Chaparral 4-H Club.

Each year, the Cowbelles, the auxiliary to the San Diego County Cattlemen's Association, awards a $500 scholarship to outstanding San Diego County home economics or agriculture students who have displayed talents in their field of study.

The scholarship goes to students who have completed at least two years toward a bachelor's degree in ag or home economics related fields.

Freeman, who was presented the award July 27 at the annual Cowbelles Barbecue in Ramona by Cowbelle president Mrs. Jim Kemp and Scholarship Chairman Charlotte Holcomb, is active in collegiate 4-H, a member of the University's School of Agriculture Board of Presidents, and has been one of the founders of the California Students for Agriculture.

In the school of Agriculture at Cal Poly State, Freeman currently serves as an aide to the dean of the school and works to develop policy, curriculum, and opinions.

She is a graduate of Monte Vista High.

Walk-a-Thon to Benefit Animal Shelter Pets

A walk-a-thon pledged to raise money for animals in County animal shelters has been set for August 20 by its sponsors, the San Diego County Humane Society.

The walk begins at 9 a.m. with walkers collecting ten cents per mile.

To sign up call Laurie Jonieux, education director, at 299-7012.

Advisory Groups Cut Tape In DMV Bureaucracy

—and changed the office "environment" by lowering counters, adding red carpet service, and take-a-number.

Unrelated, the groups have also made suggestions which led to several local ordinances protecting disabled parking spaces and the elimination of several hazardous local street conditions.

Sillas has commended the groups for making the DMV more aware of public sentiment.

"You (the panels) have given us a new dimension and some fresh directions," Sillas said, "We no longer ask, 'What will the public think?' Through you, we are hearing — loud and clear — what the people think, and we are sincerely trying to incorporate your ideas into what we are doing."

Foreclosure Program Held

Avoiding the foreclosure vilians is the subject of a free public seminar to be held August 24 in the West Room of the San Diego Neighborhood House, 841 S. 41st street.

Representatives from the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department will be on hand to answer questions and to discuss problems which lead to foreclosure.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m. and is under the auspices of the city Community Relations Department and HUD.

Reality Dampens Enthusiasm in Philippines

'Safe Harbor' for Vietnamese Refugees Becomes Holding Tank

Susanne Williams, parttime rewrite editor for this newspaper, has recently returned from a 2-month visit with her husband who is stationed in the Philippines. She visited a Vietnamese refugee camp while there. Here are her impressions:

By Susanne Williams

It could have easily been a "voyage of the damned" but Nguyen Thanh and the 20 other Vietnamese men, women and children on their small wooden junk were lucky.

Unlike many of their compatriots, they succeeded in fleeing from Vietnam without major problems; they did not run out of water or food or fuel for their small motor; neither were they stopped by boats sailing under a communist flag.

In addition, they had a compass and a few maps on board which enabled them to complete their uncertain voyage to the Philippines in less than two weeks.

Yet, the happiness Nguyen Thanh and his group felt over their successful escape was soon dampened by a reality that looked discouragingly less promising than the freedom they had dreamed of.

Because as soon as Thanh reached Philippine water he became just another number in the daily flow of Vietnamese refugees the Philippine government, the United Nations and a handful of Western countries try to cope with.

Not Wanted

Thanh, without realizing it, had become part of a problem with psychological, bureaucratic, economic and political dimensions: Thanh and his friends, in essence, are not wanted.

They are not wanted in the Philippines whose economy is not capable of absorbing the steady stream of refugees and whose government is fearful of communist infiltrators. (And Thanh who, like most of his compatriots, arrived without identification papers could easily be one of them).

They are also not wanted in any other Southeast Asian country with similar economic or political problems; and they are not exactly welcome in the United States where, in the name of an unnamed official, "Vietnam has become a dirty word."

Furthermore, many refugees do not speak any foreign language and will have great difficulties to readjust; many are also fishermen, and the need for fishermen in these Western countries accepting Vietnamese for permanent residence is despairingly small.

Discriminatory Quotas

So far, the United States, Canada, France, Germany and Austria have allowed Vietnamese refugees in their countries; but in some cases quota systems exist favoring the more intellectual and easily adjustable ones.

According to the UN High Commissioner for Refugees in the Philippines, Werner Blatter, France has accepted proportionately more refugees than the U.S.; and Canada has been less stringent about a refugee's professional, linguistic and adjustment capabilities.

But even an occasional show of goodwill does not help those people who have now been months or years in Jose Fabella Center, the central camp for Vietnamese refugees in Manila where Thanh and his group await their fate.

Bicentennial Now Officially Over

The American Bicentennial Commission, after some eleven and a half years, has finally completed its job of preparing the country for its 200th birthday.

This week, the Commission issued its final report to the people, a five volume work with prices for it ranging from $8.50 to $9.

The final report was prepared in accordance with Public Law 93-179 and was based from information gathered by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, a group which began operations in 1966.

The group's title was later changed to the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration and this group's federal funds ran out on June 30, 1977.

As for the reports, they are hard bound and available through the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. The documents of office also is selling complete 35 edition Bicentennial Times for $16.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C.M. Douglas

Last week's answer said motorists could not pass a stopped school bus from either direction.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It may save you a citation — or even your life.

Write in care of this newspaper. You do not have to sign the letter and please allow about three weeks for the reply to appear.

This Week's Question:

One of my neighbors parked an old beat-up vehicle on the street in front of my house over a week ago and hasn't moved it since. How long can he leave it there?

This Week's Answer:

By law a vehicle can be parked on a highway for not more than 72 consecutive hours. After 72 hours the vehicle may be towed away.

Credit Card Use Tops $1 Billion

Despite recent revelations which show "plastic money" credit cards to be the easiest of all to abuse, Bank of America is reporting a 28.5 per cent rise in their use in California.

According to Mike Hogan, spokesman for the bank, BankAmericard billings rose 28.5 per cent during the second quarter of 1977 alone.

Billings for the first half of 1977 were up about 23 per cent over the same period of a year ago.

The billings for this year included more than 800,000 MasterCard accounts.

Total amount charged on the credit cards was listed as more than one billion dollars.

The center houses approximately 500 people who are clothed, fed and administered by the Philippine Department of Social Services and Development which, in turn, receives funds for the camp's operation from the United Nations.

Facilities Unsufficient

25-30 people eat, sleep and live in 30 by 30 ft. rooms and hygienic standards of their occupants are not always compatible. Sanitary facilities exist, though not in great abundance, and the oppressive heat intensifies the camp's ever-pervasive odor.

Syd Enriquez, the center's coordinator, tries hard to ease the lot of those under her responsibility, but her struggle with material and administrative problems ends where human apathy sets in.

Lack of privacy, sociological differences, anxiety over the future and the endless days or weeks spent waiting result too often in indifference to or rejection of what little stimulation the camp has to offer.

Language programs have not been successful and schooling for children proves to be difficult for families come or go, thus making it impossible to adhere to schedules or curricula.

Apocalyptic Profit

The only break in the camp routine came with "Apocalypse", a movie production for which hundreds of Vietnamese were employed as stand-ins. The money they earned could be spent on soap or cigarettes, articles the camp is short of or does not provide.

Overall, however, Jose Fabella Center is a paradise compared to other refugee camps in Southeast Asia, especially Thailand. There are no fences, no guards, and refugees can walk around freely.

Many, however, just sit around and wait. And behind a screen three men listened quietly to an old French song "On se bat toujours quelque part" — "there is always a war going on somewhere".

And there is always war debris. Like Thanh.
